

LEVARHT

AUBERGINE

ORIGIN

The aubergine is the most widely eaten fruit in the world. These aubergines have a fairly neutral taste which means they can be used with great versatility in the kitchen.

In addition to the dark purple variety we also offer a wide range of specialties, such as the white and graffiti aubergine. Our aubergines are grown in the Holland by Paul and Aad v/d Knaap at the Panda nurseries in Honselersdijk. From our cooperative ventures with a number of Spanish growers, we are able to provide a year round supply for the European market. We are able to offer Mexican aubergines for the American and Canadian markets.

We can offer a wide range of customised packaging options. Would you like to know more about our aubergines? Please do get in touch with aubergines@levarht.com.
