

LEVARHT

MANGO

ORIGIN

Mangos are the world's most widely consumed fresh fruit. There are more than a thousand varieties of mango, which vary greatly in terms of taste and size. The fruit are green, yellow, orange, red or variegated. The ripe flesh is soft and juicy, pale orange in colour and ranges from fibrous to almost fibreless. Mangos are delicious eaten on their own, pureed through sorbets or ice-cream, or in a fruit salad. Our grower in Brazil supplies our mangos all year round. The Bebedouro farm is located 170 km from Juazeiro-Bahia-San Francisco Valley. This region is well-known for the quality of its fruit, thanks to the local climate. The region enjoys an extra 1.5 hours of sunshine per day, causing the fruit to gain colour and flavour.

We offer various types of packing for mangos. Voor more information visit exotics@levarht.nl.
