

LEVARHT

REDCURRANT

ORIGIN

The red currant is the most popular kind of currant. The berries need plenty of sun in order to ripen fully so that they do not taste tart. Red currants are also good for your health, since they contain high levels of vitamins and fibre.

These healthy red fruits are grown in the Netherlands, and we also source red currants from countries such as Chile.

Red currants are available all year round and can be supplied in various forms of packaging.
